

My blood runs cold when I think of the condition of human suffering and untold pain the atrocities of war make my stomach turn falling tears on the earth like burning acid rain why has it

Been so long since anyone's noticed it's been so long since anyone's cared we watch and wait as the world keeps turning hoping our greed won't consume us all

This world today is like a closed box for those who have nothing but war torn streets shine a ray of hope a light into their lives hid deep inside your heart may they find their relief why has it

Hate can never cease by hate in this world and this I know so I'm gonna give you these words and I hope you'll listen to me cuz hate never ceases by hate in this world no Turn about the face and face the faces of death in a place where men die of disease and starvation psycho warfare politicians tool won't let them pass the torch to a new generation Why has it been so long
