

Ashes

The Superjesus

rising only now and then
'cause your worlds away nothing stands to reason when you're believing all that they say because I'm not the one to talk to now
and she said I'll never be a part of all you'd like to see so take your time
'cause summer's over now drive away the days that I would never understand nothing brings you from the cold like emptiness of hand and I'm waiting for the final hour
and it's over now... distance shining ashes for the dying heaven help the face that's crying now and if I wanted more... would I dream it up somehow and try to leave the skies just like before
