

Now & Then

The Superjesus

Across the world as far as I could be
I think of you and what you want to take from me

But now I'm not waiting on sunrise to come again
And though my eyes are opening
It's only now and then
But I'll never know when

Time is not the only one to wait
It's just enough to dream of yesterday
And now it's slipping away

You know that
I'm not waiting on sunrise to come again
And though my eyes are opening
It's only now and then

And I'm not believing
All that I've been needing
To take me to another day
The way to a second
Life where I was beckoned
Back again someday

But now I'm not waiting on sunrise to come again
And though my eyes are opening
It's only now and then
But I'll never know when

I'll never, I'll never know when
I'll never, I'll never know when
I'll never, I'll never know when
I'll never, I'll never know when
I'll never, I'll never know when...