

Coming Home

The Supervillains

it's been raining since I left and I've been gone for days I don't know how much more that I can take before I just explode in my head I haven't really slept I probably need to eat and I keep falling when I skate and now I'm bleeding on the hot concrete so I drink all night then I get home until I get home again when I go to bed tonight, I'll have you in my arms we'll wake up when we want to, we'll unplug the alarm I'll take you to breakfast baby your in control of you, of me, my soul how I'd love to touch your face and run my fingers through your hair and I promise you real soon you'll wake up, look over and I will be there please don't drink all night now its time for me to leave again please remember to lock up at night and I promise not to drink too much or stay out late, doing drugs and getting into a fight everything's o a fight all right
