

Moon Chase Polka

The Swan Bride

Driving in your car I wonder what's this all about chasing after moon across a quiet sleepy town, let's pull it down! Let's pull it down!

Let's pull it down to our cold and frozen ground let's cut the rope that keeps it tied to the earth, let's fly away and escape from the truth oh what a night! Oh what a night! Sometimes you need a proof that you are still alive

I've been to all parties, but wasn't too impressed, I was reading poetry and listening to jazz sometimes having sex, I know it's not allowed but my heart just don't beat right when you're not around

lying with you on the bed waiting for the time, biting your legs I'm moving up to your sky you're screaming now! You're screaming now! We broke the rules of reality and time, love now take my hand and walk away from the line, I hate the fools who always think they're right let's kick some ass! Let's kick some ass! Let's say goodbay and send them back to the past there are many places they call a paradise, I said:

"Shove it up your face" and got beaten by those guys, but if I was religious, then you would be my god,

'cause my heart just don't beat right when you're not

I've been to all parties, but wasn't too impressed, I
was reading poetry and listening to jazz I have stolen all the stars from the sky above your face but can't conquer your heart, I call this a moon chase walking down the station the night you took the train I met a boy who had no eyes and he made me realize that he lost his sight, but it's me who was blind my heart just don't beat right when you're not around
