

The Chronomancer I: Hubris

The Sword

Feigned exultations in the court of autarch Proclaiming heresies sublime Sought by his enemies with lethal fascination Self-styled traveler in time

He has learned forbidden wisdom not meant to be known His skin became a prison where suffers his soul

Within the chamber buried deep below was wrought the means of his escape Across the aether the other one must go to sleep until that distant day

Across the aether one must go to meet her fate
The other buried deep below as he awaits

Arcane science of temporal exploration known to no one of his kind Immortality through artificial transformation
To rule a world that soon will die