

Writing's on the Wall

The Tea Party

When it bends you try to walk a straight line
Something more for less and in the meantime
It changes shape and shifts it takes you over
Its just a warning sign

Because the writing's on the wall
The writing's on the wall

You make a deal you swear that its the last time
No sudden moves or else your soul will be mine
And when you dance you're dancing with the devil
Its just a warning sign...
You're running out of time

You can't relate, you still escape
Because you think you've seen it all
You're right on time until you find
They've just been waiting for the fall

Because the writing's on the wall
The writing's on the wall

When it bends you try to walk a straight line
Something more for less and in the meantime
It changes shape and shifts it takes you over
Its just a warning sign

You can't relate, you still escape
Because you think you've seen it all
You're right on time until you find
They've just been waiting for the fall

The Writing's on the wall
The Writing's on the wall
It's seven-hundred stories tall
The Writing's on the wall

Take your time it's a state of mind
Take your time just until you find
Take your time it's a state of mind

The Writing's on the wall
The Writing's on the wall
It's seven-hundred stories tall
The Writing's on the wall
