Fallen Idol

The Tears

Eyes that stare through television
Intermission in his mind
Where there once was such ambition
Blared like a bass line when the bass line's right

Shame he's just this fallen idol Shattered like some broken glass Shame he's just this fallen idol Bits of paper for his past

Years are scattered like the rain drops Sits at the window through the empty day Competitions in the paper Stares in the sky When the sky turns grey

Shame he's just this fallen idol Shattered like some broken glass Shame he's just this fallen idol

Shame he's just this fallen idol Scattered on the bit of grass Shame he's just this fallen idol Bits of paper for his past Bits of paper for his past