Never Again

The Temper Trap

No, never again will your walls Be left abandoned by these hands No, never again will I scale The sleeping tower where your heart lays

Now, here we are my dear, this is where You're walking out the way you came in

No, never again will you draw down Your bridge to let the horses in Dead or alive, the captives I thought I had freed Made their bed at night to haunt me with their

Now, here we are my dear, this is where You're walking out the way you came in Oh, I came to let you try once again It's the end

No, never again No, never again