

I Turn To You

The Three Degrees

Somewhere in my mind
Deep in my memory
I tried to hide away your love from me
But from somewhere in my heart
Your love keeps calling me
Though I can see somehow I must get free

From the moment that I knew your love was gone
And I knew somehow I got to carry on
All by myself again
Alone again

Now I turn to you in the hour of loneliness
(Loneliness)
I turn to you to guide my way
Hoping to hear you say, hey
I come to you, you know it's got to be that way
There's nothing left for me to do
Except, darling, to hold on to you

Now always in the past
When my heart cried out for you
I tried so hard to hide my fears from you
But now it's come to pass
Ooh, you're gone, what can I do?
Darling, you know I just can't stop loving you

From the moment you told me to step aside
First, you stole my heart
Then I gave up all my pride
Now I'm by myself again
Alone again

So, I turn to you when I'm in my solitude
I turn to you 'cause in you I find
The only love that can soothe my mind
I come to you anyway you want me to
I come to you hoping you would say
You're gonna hurry on home to stay, hey

[Interlude]

Oh, I turn to you in my hour of loneliness
I turn to you 'cause in you I find
The only love that can soothe my mind
I come to you, you know it's got to be that way
There's nothing left for me to do
Except, darling, to hold on to you (turn to you)
I come to you anyway you want me to
I come to you hoping you would say
You're gonna hurry on home to stay
