

Old

The Tiger Lillies

They're taking you to dinner, they're taking you to tea, It's meals on wheels forever,
interminably,
You're old.

Now it takes you twenty when it used to take you five, Every morning when you wake up it's not good to be alive,
You're old.

Half your friends are dying,
half your friends are dead,
It takes you half an hour
just to buy a loaf of bread, You're old.

The Zimmer frame needs mending, the arthritis makes you sad, Angina is Regina,
the good times are all bad,
You're old.
