

Palace by the sea

The Tiger Lillies

Hear the serpents screaming and know they will win
I see the storm clouds brewing
I feel an evil wind
And yet I keep on dreaming of calm waters and us free I know the palace we are building will drown within the sea And so the serpent tightens his grip around our throat So soon we will be gagging how soon we will choke And yet I can't stop dreaming that one day we will be free And we will live eternal in our palace by the sea
And so the serpent strangles so certain is our fate Our hands are ripped apart as our last breath we take And yet we keep on dreaming we dream eternally
That we are in our palace
our palace by the sea
