

Thousand Violins

The Tiger Lillies

I'm calling out but no one will be hearing
I'm laughing but I cannot be heard
I'm crying but no one will be drying
These tears that fall

So how do we ever face a thousand violins
And how do we ever even start to begin

It's raining without a sign of stopping
It's sunny but no-one's getting warm
In Heaven the harps have all been broken
And these tears they fall

So how do we ever face a thousand violins
And how do we ever even start to begin

All through the days now faded away
One thought remains one thought does stay
It haunts me still it will remain
I'm lost in wonder and I hear again

Tell me how do we ever face a thousand violins
And how do we ever even start to begin
Tell me how do we ever face a thousand violins
Tell me how do we ever even start to begin
Thousand violins