

I Don't Mean To Impose, But I Am The Ocean

The Tony Danza Tapdance Extravaganza

Her blue skies and ocean with feet in the sand
There's no such thing as a last time
When she lived to cease these moments
That were never planned

Everyday was her new day
Everyday in it's own way
Brought her free spirit of grace
That defined only true faith

Her smile captured our lives
And held us in only sunshine
Outgoing in her actions
A pure expression of drive

And then came the day
To say farewell
And our words were silent
As our hearts fell

For so many years I worked hard
Only to captivate her eyes
And she taught me
How to laugh through uphill battles
So I will seek my strength so quietly
While I hold my head

Towards every next days sky
Then came a beautiful day
That gathered around held hands
Which enclosed you
A strong fight even to last breaths
A fighter she always was
And this we knew

With memories of all those smiles
Living through us forever
The warmth of her smile
Then we watched all of the colors
Float with the breeze

She was held tightly
As she walked into peace
Then she was held tight as she walked into
Then she was held so tightly
As she walked into peace
