Sharks

The Tragically Hip

Sharks don't attack the Irish It's mostly Australians There's nothing accomplished

By these splashing citizens From the moon down to the surface Of the Mariana's Trench

I won't send you in a cab when
I can take you there myself then
Steal a look over your shoulder
At the distant lights of your firmament

When the sharks finished the Irish And those people from Berlin We left our look of the landed

With one of rescue's imminent From the moon down to the surface Of the Mariana's Trench

I won't send you in a cab when
I can take you there myself then
Steal a look over your shoulder
The chandeliers of your firmament
Your firmament, baby

[Inaudible]

I can take you there myself then Steal a look over your shoulder [Inaudible]
