The Bear

The Tragically Hip

I was first attracted by your scent Your heart must be a caramelised onion By the time I saw your flame It was all over for you and what's his name

I think it was Algonquin park It was so cold and winter dark A promised hibernation high Took me across the great black plate of ice

Now I'm the islander

I found a place to call my den And dreamt of the ferry and the enormous man Huge as were his children Following around after him

I'm the islander I woke up in the furtive spring More capable of anything

I waited for more men to come They docked their boats and cocked their guns The time for truth and reconciliation's gone But with my belly full I intended to get something done

I'm the islander
I woke up in the dead of spring
More hungry than anything
I'm the islander
I'm the islander
