After All You Said

I guess you're still too wild After all you said And did not mean What hides behind the smile After all you said And made believe Riding line doesn't sound so bad Just the wide open spaces Lots of time to reflect the past Lots of time to forget your face Someone I thought we talked about it all Somewhere Who wrote the writing on the wall Somehow It just took some time to reveal Someone The lies were painfully real Imagine for so long After all you said And would not say Illusions are all wrong After all you said And could explain Riding line doesn't sound so bad Just the wide open spaces Someone I thought we talked about it all Somewhere Who wrote the writing on the wall Somehow It just took some time to reveal Someone The lies were painfully real No more tears After all you said Can't expect the clouds to clear If you're left in darkness Your reflection's not in the mirror I suspect you're heartless
