

I Will Remain

The Veer Union

You forced me into broken dreams
The world as I know has been torn from the seams
I try looking up, but I'm face down
All I can taste is the dirt from the ground

But I will remain
I've come undone
Now you've won
I feel my life crashing down onto me
The sun is gone, shadows on
You think my world you have taken from me
But I start again
I will remain

Now that the dust is settling
I find all the answers are unraveling
I'm falling apart as you can see
I pick up the pieces of what's left of me

But I will remain
I've come undone
Now you've won
I feel my life crashing down onto me
The sun is gone, shadows on
You think my world you have taken from me
But I start again

And I will stay right here
One day I will be the one you envy
Come back again
And then you will be the one that's ending here

I will remain
