

When It All Falls Apart

The Veronicas

I'm having a day from hell
It was all going so well before you came
And you told me you needed space
With a kiss on the side of my face, not again

And not to mention the tears I shed
But I should've kicked your ass instead
I need intervention
Attention, stop temptation to scream

'Cause baby everything is left up straight from the heart
Tell me, what do you do when it all falls apart?
Gotta pick myself up, where do I start?
'Cause I can't turn to you when it all falls apart, no, ohh

Don't know where I parked my car
Don't know who my real friends are, anymore
I put my faith in you
What a stupid thing to do when it rains it pours

And not to mention, I drank too much
I'm feelin' hungover, out of touch
I need intervention
Attention, stop temptation to scream

Baby, everything is left up straight from the heart
Tell me, what do you do when it all falls apart?
Gotta pick myself up, where do I start?
'Cause I can't turn to you when it all falls apart, no, ohh

Can't it be easier? Can I just change my life?
'Cause it just seems to go bad every time
Will I be mended
Another one ending once again?

Everything is left up straight from the heart
Tell me, what do you do when it all falls apart?
Gotta pick myself up, where do I start?
'Cause I can't turn to you when it all falls apart, no, ohh

Everything is left up straight from the heart
Tell me, what do you do when it all falls apart?
Gotta pick myself up, where do I start?
'Cause I can't turn to you when it all falls apart, no, ohh
Gotta pick myself up 'cause things are mended

Everything is left up straight from the heart
Tell me, what do you do when it all falls apart?
Gotta pick myself up, where do I start?
'Cause I can't turn to you when it all falls apart, no, ohh