She Loves Everybody

The Verve Pipe

She loves everybody, she loves everyone Like the picture taken twenty years ago That she keeps in her portfolio

He wants everybody, he wants anything
And they part the rope outside the whiskey bar
A glitter gown in orbit left to satellite a waning star

I touch down in the heated land And shiver in my bones as I look up to greet The clouds that wait for me

Washed aside by circumstance
The watercloth had cleared the answer in my mind
And you were there with me, there with me again

She loves everybody, she loves everyone The evidence sits in the VCR He's choking on apologies She's channeling a superstar

I tiny elbow through the crowd Flashing lights, the music's loud I'm questioning if this is destiny

Disappearing from the rants
Ignoring risen sycophants, I close my eyes
And you were there with me, there with me
There with me again

She loves everybody, she loves everyone She loves everybody, she loves everyone
