

All The Stars

The Wailin' Jennys

All the stars in the sky
Burn to black close your eyes
All the stars in the sky
Say goodbye say goodbye

We were here yesterday
Now we seem so far away
We were here yesterday
I heard you say

You don't know me
You know one side of a story
You don't know me

So open wide your wounded heart
Feel yourself be blown apart
Open wide your wounded heart
It's a funny place to start

But in the light of the sun
We are found we are undone
In the light of the sun
We are all one

And you don't know me
You know one side of a story
Oh you don't know me

All the seeds beneath the snow
Start to grow start to grow
All the seeds beneath the snow
Say hello say hello

All the seeds that lie below
Deep in the heart of what we know
All the seeds that lie below
The ones we sowed

And you don't know me
You know one side of a story
But if we could be free
One with all this glory