

Pit Of Shame

The Warriors

I had faith to find a tougher house where the wrecking ball would just bounce off.
Waiting around but no one ever took the reigns.
Gotta do it myself there's no better way.
Today, I took a look in the mirror.
It's been 27 years and I'm still here for the ones I hold dear and I got nothing to hide because there's nothing to fear.
What's the point? There's nothing left to say.
Hard times in this pit of shame.
I had faith to find a tougher house where the wrecking ball would just bounce off.
Vengeance comes like a thief in the night.
Everything turns black then turns to white.
Hard times... Violent minds... What is my destination?
What are my limitations?
Like a thief in the night, I left it all behind because my journey is light.
What is my destination?
What are my limitations?
