

In My Mind

The Watchmen

In my mind I'm running for the door
The fields are green and through blue skies I soar
Electric blue shock it brings me back
Hear my mind fry and crack and I can't take this anymore

I can no longer see the colors I pluck off of the tree
The words they dry up on my tongue
The song it says it can't be sung
Why are you doing this to me

Why you laughing
Why you hurting
Oh no I found her there

In my mind I'm an eagle in the air
Grandfather he's the bear
Dance around the firelight
Pass the pipe all through the night
Grandfather is that you there

Take away my soaring feather
Tie me down with straps of leather
Stick my feet in the pool
Send the pain up my spine
Make me lose what's inside
Take my pride and watch me drool

Why you laughing
Why you hurting
Oh no I found her there

This time yeah you've gone too far
My mind is black and it's scarred
It's in the earth inside the bag
Bury me somewhere out in back
And write the time down on the card

Why you laughing
Why you hurting
Oh no I found her there

I found her there
