Move This City

The Wedding

And false accusations destroy relationships i hope you're happy with all the lies you've spread well i say we change things up, trade out this hate with love but it has got to start with us lets be the ones to move this city if you're with me then say Whoa...Yeah...

And if we fail we'll just keep trying till we make it Whoa...Yeah...

my strength is not determined by never messing up but that every time that i fall down is one more time that i will get back up i'll get back up so choose your battles wisely get in line look around family is what you'll find