

I Am The Light

The White Buffalo

I'm not like all the others.
They're too polished for words
All plastic parts in search for perfect tense
Appearances deceive you
Don't chase those holograms
Well there's really no perfection in the end
There's pain there in your city lights
White lightning in your veins and the truth is that, that I just came to say.

There's a dream inside your nightmare
Open up and let it in.
It's cold, it is petrified.
Lose it now and it won't come again.

I am the light, you are the night, you hold the stars.
I am where the darkness falls
It surrounds us all it's a call to us
You know that it won't come again.

A dream is all I got now
It's tired and running thin
I've long past the point of no return
Not so sure if I belong here am I even in the game
I'm on the other side where the truth doesn't lie where the time is now and it won't come again

I am the light no wrong no right
You sell the stars
I am where the darkness falls it surrounds us all
It's a call to us
You know that it won't come again.
You know that it won't come again.
Before the dream throws away.
Feels like the light is here to stay.
Know the dream it floats away.
It feels like the light is here to stay.
Lord before the dream throws away
Lord the light is here to stay here to stay oh lord here to stay.
Here it's here to stay
