The Getaway

The White Buffalo

Keep your head down for now, cut the light Just 'til we get out of town and I find Find a place to hide

Follow me away from the light, through the pines There's a clearing there up on the right, out of sight Where we'll crash for the night

Behind us the damage is done, no one can erase Love has no ending, just a resting place But there's a place in the dark, in the black where the deals a re made

I ain't your partner, I am your slave

Everything will be alright by my side
There ain't a word in my mind to describe
You and I

There's a trail of tears and love, no one can erase Love has no end, take it to the grave There's a place in the dark, in the black where the demons are made

But I ain't your partner, I am your slave

Keep your head down for now, cut the light Just 'til we get out of town, and I find Find a place to hide

'Til I find a place to hide