

Damaged

The Winery Dogs

I don't think I should be here, but maybe we can make it through the night.

I don't know what I'm feeling, maybe that it's better somewhere else.

Somewhere where my mind turns off and my heart becomes the guide.

And maybe my guard is down but I don't seem to mind, oh.

But I'm damaged from the man that I was yesterday.

Yeah, it's the damage from the life that in turn used to shadow me.

And now it's over and done.

You make me think I'm feeling, but you know I'm just a vulture on your heart.

And I don't want to be this, I'm sorry I misled you from the start

To somewhere I've never been and I could never be.

So maybe my time is up and I should let it be, oh.

But I'm damaged from the man that I was yesterday.

I guess I'm damaged from the breath that I won't lead me astray.

And now it's over and done.

Yeah, I'm damaged from the man that I was yesterday.

I guess I'm damaged from the breath that I won't lead me astray.

I guess I'm damaged from the chances I made yesterday.

And you know I'm standing still, there's nothing more I can say.

And now it's over and done.