

Regret

The Winery Dogs

How many times are we gonna play the game, thinkin that it's gonna change?

I wish I could somehow forget your face.

It ain't easy to turn and walk away.

So if I'm nothin to you, everything is everything that you wanted.

How did I let myself go? We've been down this road before, I've seen it.

I guess by now we should know, but you make it hard to let go.

How many times are you gonna make me pay, for my feelings that I can't deny?

You show me hope then then you take away.

Keep me believing, it's somethin in your eyes.

But I'm feelin that anything can change.

Everything is everything that we make it.

How did I let myself go? We've been down this road before, I've seen it.

I guess by now we should know, maybe this time we should leave it all behind.

I paid debt, and now I think I understand regret.

I guess it's time to be a man and face the time that I've spent using you.

How did I know I'd regret? Oh, I've paid debt, and now I understand regret.

It's time to be a man and face all the time that I spent using you.

How could I know I would regret? I didn't know I was losing you