

Lights And Stones

The Word Alive

Where do we go when nowhere feels like home?
Who do we turn to when we're all alone?
I've searched and searched for the way to the end,
But when I step forward I find I've fallen again, fallen again.
Where do we go when nowhere feels like home?

Stay the path and I will guide you home.
To a city built on lights and built on stone.
Conflict will arise but the faithful will survive.
And I will be, I will be your home when you're alone.
I'll be what you need.
I'll be your home.

Why do you feel like you don't deserve life?
Well, I can see everything and I promise you
It will be alright.

Where can we go when we need to escape?
Who am I that I might be set free?
I've searched and searched for the way to the end,
But when I step forward, I find you're bringing me in.

You won't let go of me, now nothing makes sense.
When you're here, you'll see the end.

Stay the path and I will guide you home.
To a city built on lights and built on stone.
Conflict will arise but the faithful will survive.
And I will be, I will be your home when you're alone.
I'll be what you need.
I'll be your home.

Stay focused when they've got you shattered and broken.
You got lost along the way.
Please come home.
Please come home.

Stay the path and I will guide you home.
To a city built on lights and built on stone.
Conflict will arise but the faithful will survive.
And I will be, I will be your home when you're alone.
I'll be what you need.
I'll be your home.

Stay the path and I will guide you home.
Stay the path and I will guide you home.
