

Follow Me Home

The Years Gone By

I can't find enough words to say you mean the most to me.
But I could try tonight.
Rip out my lungs and have them breathe for you,
My heart you know it beats for you.
No tears are left to cry alone tonight.

Follow me home, you're the brightest star I've seen.
I can't lose hope. When you're around me.
Let's make it last forever. Will make it last.

I can't find enough words to say you bring the best out in me.
But I could try tonight. To be the one who always waits for you
The one who helps put faith back in you.
No hearts are left to beat alone tonight
