

This Is Your Song

The Years Gone By

You can be everything
You can be anything
You can be...

I said I really wanna go
Running after days and nights
You're my favorite disaster, girl
Are you there girl? (Are you there?)
Make your move but do it slowly
Cause you're the one hardly holding on to, to me, girl

Do you know what's real?
Sometimes I can't feel

You can be everything
You can be anything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours
Everything
You can be anything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours

We never really got along
So well in my dreams were yours but yours ran out
And I'm trying, to pull through (to pull through)
Maybe if we spent some time
I'll flash up your dream expense so hard to lose control
Don't lose control

Do you know what's real?
Sometimes I can't feel

You can be anything
You can be everything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours
You can be everything
You can be anything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours

Hey, you're so obvious
And hey, I'm the one who's insecure

But do you know what's real?
Sometimes I can't feel, feel

You can be everything
You can be anything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours
You can be anything
You can be everything
You can be anything and everything
Anything and everything, it's all yours
