Accept The New

Theophilus London

You got to the point where you forgotten Everything that you once knew The future happened so fast, your past Bursts up into shades of blue Don't live in, don't you live in fear my dear Just please accept the new Accept the new Accept the new Everything's new, Everything changes Every heart is the same even when your famous Ain't nothin special bout it, but the payments But at least the lease gets pay And I'm drunk up in the haze And the morning sings to me How could I forget the trouble that it brings to me The time of the "D" (day), the time of the year (year) How long do we have?, how long could we bare?

When you wake up, and you made a choice To puff your cigarette and you hear my voice You know it's to your heart, and it's heaven sent Open the door, it's my girl Mary Jane (Hey!) They say the morning rays could cut ya eyes out They say the morning rays could cut ya eyes out And this letter is to you in a Pisces point of view You could read it till your blue

"Do not fear the digital world It will not kill us all"