

No More Room To Breathe

There for Tomorrow

You've got to know by now that stepping in and out won't bring you down

Or do you make it definite?

(Or do you make it definite?)

06.15, sacrifice your rest

I thought you said you're different

From those who believe in me

They believe (in Universities)

Oh, not another mind made up for doing nothing more than all you see

They've got no more room to breathe

Until we just get them to

Say, we'll make them say that we've been down and out all day

If your education brings you home

Why are you still away?

So give it up if you're not still trying to

Call it up in your four time windowed room

I've got the feeling that you're not

Using up all of your best bets on plans that you still don't have set

From those who believe in it

They believe until we just get them to

Say, we'll make them say that we've been down and out all day

If your education brings you home

Why are you still away?

See, we'll make them see that we've got no more room to breathe

If your education brings you home

Why are you still away?

I gave it all the thoughts you said you needed

But the minutes got repeated for too long (far too long)

Can you save us all from the thoughts you said you needed

But I feel like I've competed for too long (far too long)

We've got no more room to breathe

Until we just get them to see

We've got no more room to breathe

Until we just get them to...

Say, we'll make them say that we've been down and out all day

If your education brings you home

Why are you still away?

See, we'll make them see that we've got no more room to breathe

If your education brings you home

Why are you still away?