Bluebird

Theresa Sokyrka

The stars have gone from the sky, and tears are here in my eyes. And I, I don't want this to be. I don't have you but you still have me. I try but the words come out wrong. I lie awake all night long And oh, when it's raining it pours. You're not mine, but I am still yours. The happy bluebird sings a beautiful melody. But oh such a song is meaningless without you to hear it with me. I cry cause I know that it's true. You don't love me, but I still love you.
