

An Arrow from the Sun

Therion

An Arrow From The Sun
Sunshine hides behind a cloud
Eiwar!
There's no light for us to see
Eiwar!
But a ray is breaking through
Eiwar!
The ignorance of human mind
Eiwar!
On Olympia the sun is born
Radiating from god Apollo
From the utmost North arrived a mankind
And he took a spark, a shaft of light
Arrows from the sun, they penetrate the human mind
Sophia is born when we catch one of these
Arrows from the sun, they burn the soul and make us see
Him who took the spark: Abaris Eiwar
Eiwar, Eiwar, take an arrow from the sun
Abaris, pilgrim from the regions of darkness
when you catch the sun, you'll ride a beam
All across the world, in every place
Like Abaris did, he took the spark
As a riding broom; a magic world
Arrows from the sun will penetrate the human mind
Sophia is born when we catch on of these
Arrows from the sun, they burn the soul and make us see
Deep inside the maze: the Psyche, the soul
An arrow from the sun is like a sceptre in your hand
A key to time and space, to joureys within Arrows from the sun will open up your beating heart
Sophia will shine when they hit your soul
Eiwar, Eiwar, take an arrow from the sun
Abaris, pilgrim from the regions of darkness
Eiwar, Eiwar, bend the bow now and shoot now
Abaris, bowman, shoot an arrow from the sun