The Mesopotamians

They Might Be Giants

We've been driving around From one end of this town to the other and back But no one's ever seen us (No one's ever seen us) Driving our Econoline van (And no one's ever heard of our band) And no one's ever heard of our band

We're the Mesopotamians Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh

Then they wouldn't understand a word we say So we'll scratch it all down into the clay Half believing there will sometime come a day Someone gives a damn Maybe when the concrete has crumbled to sand

We're the Mesopotamians Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh

The Mesopotamish sun is beating down And making cracks in the ground But there's nowhere else to stand In Mesopotamia (No one's ever seen us) The kingdom where we secretly reign (And no one's ever heard of our band) The land where we invisibly rule

As the Mesopotamians Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh

This is my last stick of gum I'm going to cut it up so everybody else gets some Except for Ashurbanipal, who says my haircut makes me look like a Mohenjo-Daren

Hey, Ashurbanipal I'm a Mesopotamian Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh

We're the Mesopotamians Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh

"Hey, man, I thought that you were dead I thought you crashed your car" "No, man, I've been right here this whole time playing bass guitar For the Mesopotamians"

We're the Mesopotamians Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal Sargon, Hammurabi, Ashurbanipal, and Gilgamesh
