You And I

Thirteen Senses

I wasn't watching you perfectly still I'm near perfectly dazed Out of our hollow and into a space Fire and water and space Yeah further and further away

I find you watching me turn out the light I find you turning to stone You lost control when the air became thin You say you always pretend It's always the way in the end

And you and I are thoughts in the minds

Up come the dark lines and further away Logic is out of control I wasn't paying attention at all I was just counting the gold Yeah I was just caught in the cold

And you and I are thoughts in the minds You and I You and I
