This Beautiful Republic

Change The World

I'm finding it hard Hard to take Mistakes we have made Ignoring the ones That we hold dear Out of selfishness

All these things distract our eyes And steal our time

Why do we keep fighting But saying everything's alright? We all see the same things Why can't we stand side by side? United together, we can change the world

I'm learning to take the smallest steps And making a way Can You take anymore? Can You stand by while our world crashes down?

Why do we keep fighting But saying everything's alright? We all see the same things Why can't we stand side by side? United together, we can change the world

Be the spark, Forsake your pride, Set things right

Why do we keep fighting But saying everything's alright? We all see the same things Why can't we stand side by side? United together, we can change the world
