

So Cruel

This Century

Down, down, you're getting me down
You leave a night without a sound
I'm sure that I had my doubts

But now I know you're the one who messed around,
I can't forget you messed around
And after it all, I had found

You could be so cruel, I was such a fool
I could never forgive you for bending the rules
But I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
I'm tired of letting you in, whenever you end, I begin

Blame, blame, blame myself
Stayed with you, you cried for help
I should have just said farewell

But now I know you could only love yourself
Love yourself, you love yourself
Much more than anyone else,
Much more than anyone else

You could be so cruel, I was such a fool
I could never forgive you for bending the rules
But I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
I'm tired of letting you in, whenever you end, I begin

Whenever you end, I begin
Whenever you end, I begin
Whenever you end, I begin

You could be so cruel, I was such a fool
I could never forgive you for bending the rules
But I know where you've been, you're far from innocent
I'm tired of letting you in, whenever you end, I begin

Whenever you end, I begin
Whenever you end, I begin
Whenever you end, I begin
Whenever you end, I begin