

The Moment

This Century

I've been hanging on to a dream and saying things that I don't mean to
I feel it's giving me a chance
To open up and make advances
Buying into empty promises that she says

I'm honestly seeking your company
But you're leading me on
You're off the map somewhere finding yourself
But you're leading me on

I've been hanging on to a dream
The one where you go in between what's real and what I want it to be The timing couldn't be much worse and making time for you came first
But you sway further and further

I'm honestly seeking your company
But you're leading me on
You're off the map somewhere finding yourself
But you're leading me on

I'm honestly seeking your company
But you're leading me on
You're off the map somewhere finding yourself
But you're leading me on

I've been hanging on a dream
Much longer than I had expected
I've been hanging on this dream
So long I never had suspected

I've been hanging on a dream
Much longer than I had expected
I've been hanging on this dream
So long I never had suspected
