

Graveyards

This Is A Standoff

The image pierces through your eyes, disenchanting youth it's no surprise.

They're taking focus from what's right and throw it to the sea.

Oh man, I wish they'd shut their mouths.

Humanity is reaching out. It's gonna beat us at our game.

Instinctively, we're all the same.

I wanna tear down ignorance.

It sure beats insignificance.

We run along, but step lightly.

This planets fucking dying.

We're all here believing, but don't know it's meaning.

Most of my intentions are held back by iron doors.

I spend my life watching cause it keeps me wanting more.

Autonomy won't work for me please people tell me honestly.

I want world-wide synergy.

It's keeping us apart.

It's contradictory of who we are.

A marriage of the heart, and we're still breaking it apart.

We can see it in our eyes.

We're feeling Mother Nature's cries.

I place it high up on our list, enough to make you fucking pissed.

We run along but step lightly, this planets fucking dying.

We're all here believing, but don't know it's meaning.

Most of my intentions are held back by iron doors.

Spend my life watching cause it keeps me wanting more.

Autonomy won't work for me please people tell me honestly.

I want world-wide synergy.

It's keeping us apart.

It's contradictory to who we are.

waiting for a message that'll tell you what you already know.

Another decade and it all comes crashing down.

No one's pulling favors and we're tired of this wool in our eyes.

Another minute and it all comes crashing down.