

Blind Man

Thom Artway

I remember all those times when I was colorblind
When my doctor said so
I wouldn't mind
I was a kid and I believed he was right
All those years watching black and white TV in a forgotten bar...

Blind man never sees his brothers
Blind man never judges the others
Blind man opens eyes to others
Blind man is drinking whiskey whole bottles

I went down to that bar on the corner of Brunswick Street
People smoking talking about things things they don't need
Then I met a man who opened my eyes and ears

Blind man never sees his brothers
Blind man never judges the others
Blind man opens eyes to others
Blind man is drinking whiskey whole bottles
