

Sleep Shake

Thomas Giles

it started like a normal day i jumped and explored the yard my sensors seemed tense like a bomb between two friends they've never really been my friends just a common sense of self but today i feel so strange like i am someone else

my creation
my imagination
i've become different now my speech and thoughts are out all your sounds i've memorized now i can send them back do i show you what i've done or keep it all inside

i could now find humans friends outside our common self
but today i feel so strange that's why i'll become my own self

my creation
my imagination
i've become different now
my speech and thoughts are out

wake up