

The Morning Sun

Thomas Godoj

Look at my skin
All these cracks remind me of someplace I've been Here in the morning sun

Look in my eye
I'm still far from being flawless but I try
Every morning sun

Everything's coming back to where it once began
Someday we'll spread our ashes
In the streets
Just to rise again

Refrain:

Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
As we strike the colors
Dawn goes down to day
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all

Look at my face
Took some time for all these lines
To find their place
Here in the morning sun

Dig in my head
Some of the pages are still unread
But I know
Dice can be rolled again
After all we've been through Old and new
Didn't we have it all

Refrain:

Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
As we strike the colors
Dawn goes down to day
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all

Like any has got an out
Lows other side is high
And every love we care about
At some point makes us cry
We fight a war and kiss a star
It's all part of who we are

Refrain:

Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all
As we strike the colors
Didn't we have it all
Didn't we almost have it all

Look at my shoes
Though they're stained they always know
Wich way to choose
Into the morning sun
