

Breakaway

Thompson Twins

The moon shines cold with ice tonight
And I can see your face now in the violet light
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can hear you clearly
I hear every word you say

I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mind anyway

I have dreams that I don't understand
They're all tangled up like your hair in my hands
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can see you clearly
I feel every breath you take

I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mind anyway

The moon strikes fear in hearts of men
And I thought I would never see your face again
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can hear you clearly
I tremble with every word you say

I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mind anyway

I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mind anyway

I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't break away, hey-y-y
I just can't break away
No matter how hard try
I just can't break away, hey-y-y
I just can't break away
No.....