I'm always treading on dangerous ground And everything seems to be upside down Are you practicing for judgement day? Or do you really mean those things you say?

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

There's a panic in this heart of mine

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

I'm looking for something that's just too hard to find

I'm not the man you wanted me to be
He's kept alive inside your fantasy
But now the magic me is fading fast
Let me remind you of the face behind the mask

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

There's a panic in this heart of mine

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

I'm looking for something that's just too hard to find

Can't you see there's just no promised land, doesn't happen tha t way

I hope you'll try and understand there's nothing I can do or sa ${\tt Y}$

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

There's a panic in this heart of mine

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

I'm looking for something that's just too hard to find

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

There's a panic in this heart of mine

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

I'm looking for something that's just too hard to find

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

There's a panic in this heart of mine

Day after day (day after day), night after night (night after night)

I ' m	looking	for	something	that's	just	too	hard	to	find	