

Bear These Scars

Those Who Fear

Would you bleed for what you believe
And stand tall in the face of adversity
Would you keep your head held high
Would you bear your scars proudly
We suffer much before we can rest our heads
But these trials and tribulations perfect perseverance
We scream, we cry, Lord will you please stand by me
We bear our scars with pride
We bear them for the world to see
To signify I would die for what I believe
These scars define me
Define my struggle
I wear them proudly for the world to see
We bear these scars
To show the world who we are
We bear these scars
We suffer much before we can rest our heads
But these trials and tribulations perfect perseverance
Would you bleed for what you believe
And stand tall in the face of adversity
Would you keep your head held high
Would you bear your scars proudly
Would you bear these scars and show your struggle
