

Fools how the prideful have fallen
Fallen from their mighty thrones
They build their kingdoms up just to watch them fall
Now we will inherit the earth
I like how you think you got one on me it makes me sick
But when pride comes
Then disgrace comes
You're no better than me
Pride comes before destruction
Pride comes before the fall
But with a humble heart and humility
The meek shall inherit the earth
Stepping on your petty ways,
You are not someone I will overtake
We refuse to feed your growing ego
It's time we cut you down to size once and for all
Consider this a warning for those who would think they were better than me
So keep your mouth shut and think before you speak
You will never be the one to tell me what to do or say
Put aside your pride and show me who you really are
I will tear away at the person that you built yourself up to be
You're no better than me
How the prideful have fallen
