I awake to find myself in comatose
All these years I've been trapped and so blind
If nothing is real, than nothing is true
Trapped in a prison, confined without virtue

And I can't save myself

Dislocated from so called reality
I walk alone away from disease
My reflection dies
Killing my mind away tearing life out of me

And I can't save myself

Take all of this pain inside And throw it all away Take all of this hate inside And kill it all away

Welcome to the abyss of my dementia

Am I awake or only breathing?

I feel nothing

I'm frozen inside and life is burning my mind away

And I can't save myself Wake up And I can't save myself

Take all of this pain inside And throw it all away Take all of this hate inside And kill it all away Take all of this pain inside And kill it all away

Wake up
