

I reassemble the ground to stand on
And pull together the means to find a new direction
Life dies before me, just left to drown in defeat
I disassemble the need to walk among the sheep

Fall into the depth of mass control
Never knowing never break the mold
Ever searching through the lies that I've been told

A new dimension a place to breathe
The vision will empower me
I am not infected
This blood runs clean

Reject the system, defy all reason
It's been too long we've all since gone to sleep
Destroy their mission, control decision
It's been too long we've all forgot to breathe

Don't let the blood drain out from my flesh
Cauterize the wound

I re-enable the strength to keep searching
And break apart the seams to find what's beneath

Fall into the depth of mass control
Never knowing never break the mold
Ever searching through the lies that I've been told

Another rule another law I will not obey
There's no control over me
Dictate the ruling of this life towards the insane
Cut the strings off me

Blind, disarm reality
Repress our minds into machine
Blind, disarm reality
Repress our minds into machine

Reject the system, defy all reason
It's been too long we've all since gone to sleep
Destroy their mission, control decision
It's been too long we've all forgot to breathe
When will this end? It's time
